

ALLIED INVASION FORCES FIGHT WITH
SAVAGE FURY AGAINST TOUGH ENEMY
RESISTANCE; ADVANCE INTO CERISY

British and Canadian Forces Grapple With Strong German Mechanized Units at Caen—When St. Lo Falls the Allies Will Be in Control of the Main Rail and Road Arteries on Cherbourg Peninsula.

By Kingsbury Smith
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
Supreme Headquarters, Allied
Expeditionary Force, June 12—(INS)—Allied invasion forces now estimated by the Germans at 400,000 men fought with savage fury against tough enemy resistance at both ends of their lengthening battle-line in Normandy today.

Supported by unremitting aerial bombardment and shelling of Nazi positions by Allied naval craft in the English Channel, American troops drove deeper into the forest of Cerisy southeast of Cherbourg while British and Canadian armored units with strong German mechanized forces at Caen.

The advances into Cerisy Forest placed the Americans less than eight miles from the communications center of St. Lo, half way through the Cherbourg Peninsula.
(The German agency DNB reported Allied forces "in the outskirts" of St. Lo.)

When St. Lo falls, the Allies will gain control of the main rail and road arteries on the Cherbourg Peninsula and pose an increasingly serious threat to Cherbourg itself, immediate objective of the drive to the west.

The greatest obstacle in this area
appears to be Carentan, a 15th century town on the flooded lateral road paralleling the Norman coast.
Here the Germans are strongly digged in, and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's communique, issued from an advanced command post in the Normandy beachhead area, contained the following emphatic line:

"The Allies do not hold Caren-tan."

Several mobile artillery batteries
of the Germans on the Cherbourg Peninsula were knocked out by the Allied naval guns.

British elements of the invasion
army, meantime, encountered stiff resistance from the German armored forces in the Tilly area, and "intense fighting continued in that region."

Gen. Eisenhower's spokesman announced that the phase of securing the beachheads is "drawing to a close," and added:

"Current progress gives cause for sober satisfaction and the weather is more favorable."
"The Allies do not hold Carentan."
"The situation around Isigny is vague, but in the vicinity of Lisson
it is satisfactory."

Air operations, which had benefited from an improvement in the weather yesterday morning, suddenly had to be curtailed sharply
after midday when cloud and rain obscured much of the battle area.

This morning, however, the skies over the Channel were sunny and there was a light breeze. The barometer was rising, giving promise that Allied aircraft would be able to operate more freely.

THE WAR AT A GLANCE

By International News Service
American invasion forces plunged deeper today into the Cerisy Forest less than eight miles from the vital enemy-held communications center of St. Lo, and continued to advance west of the inundated Merderet river valley.

Allied warships continued to support the land drive, said a communique from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters—issued from an advanced command post in the Normandy beachhead area—
and several mobile artillery batteries of the Germans on the Cherbourg Peninsula were knocked out by Allied naval guns.

Meanwhile, British elements of the invasion army encountered stiff resistance from the German's armored forces in the Tilly area, "Intense fighting continued in that region," headquarters said.

In Italy the Fifth and Eighth armies pushed northwest up the Italian peninsula, hard on the heels of a Nazi retreat that threatens to become a rout. Fifth Army troops drove 70 miles north of Rome—halfway to Florence—while the Eighth Army cleared the Nazis from south of the Pescara River on the Adriatic flank.

General Douglas MacArthur's
headquarters announced that Allied sea and air power continued to tear at Japanese bases from Truk to Bougainville, raining down a torrent of bombs, and strafing and cannonading the enemy.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT
(Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Political Effect

Washington, June 10.
THE MOST interesting political speculation at this time concerns the effect upon the Republican National Convention, to be held
two weeks from
now in Chicago,
of the Allied success in the capture of Rome, followed so swiftly
by the vast, dramatic and overwhelmingly momentous invasion of western Europe.

AS TO the convention, there are differences of opinion on this question. There also are widely separated views as to the effect upon the subsequent campaign. But those differences are a matter of degree. There is entire agreement on the basic fact that the Republican convention and the Republican cause have been done no good. There is no way by which they can benefit. That much is

Girls and Boys Take

Communities

GLEANEED BY SCRIBES

Under the leadership of Rev. N.
Herbert Caley, St. James' Episcopal Church of Langhorne has been using its parish house as a youth canteen for all 'teen age boys and girls in Langhorne and vicinity.
The canteen is open every Friday night.

L. Ivins Smith, of Jericho Valley, near New Hope, had 48 pullets killed recently by dogs which their owner allows to run at large. The residents of the valley are incensed by the destruction wrought by these dogs that nightly roam the country side and steps will be taken to have the dogs destroyed.

Allan L. VanPelt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis W. VanPelt, of Pineville, was among the Air Force pilots recently commissioned second lieutenant, having completed his course. He has a brother, Lt.
Albert VanPelt, who crashed over Germany and is now a prisoner of war.

An honor roll to list local men in the armed forces is being erected at the corner of Bellevue avenue
and the Lincoln Highway, South Langhorne. It is of wood, hexagonal in shape.

Two new teachers were selected for the faculty of Sellersville-Perkasie high school last week by the Joint Board of Education to fill vacancies left by recent resignations.

Prominent Upper Bucks
County Resident Dies

FERNDALE, June 12—Theodore
M. Moyer, one of the best-known residents of upper Bucks county, died in the Easton Hospital last week after an illness of about five months. He was 74.

He was the oldest Justice of the Peace in this county in point of service—54 years—and was a director of the Doylestown National Bank and Trust Company since its reorganization some 33 years ago.
At one time, Justice Moyer owned
the entire community of Uhlertown along the upper Delaware Canal. He bought the whole community, including flour mill, hay presses, lime kilns, a boat yard, general store, a hotel, several dwelling houses and a post-office for $15,000.

William D. Warner, is a member of the Coast Guard Auxiliary.

The letter from PFC Headley
Warner follows:
June 1, 1944

Dear Folks:
With all the news coming from Italy now, I suppose you're wondering and worrying about me.
Well, it finally came, and after a year overseas, I can feel that I've done something for my country.
My outfit spent six days and seven nights in the fracas and performed a wonderful job. I'm really proud to be a part of the Third Battalion, 13th A. R. We gave Jerry plenty of trouble while we were in there. My contribution

Today Marks Opening
Of 5th War Bond Drive

Today marks the opening of the Fifth War Loan for Victory, and solicitors in Bristol as in all parts of the United States are busy selling war bonds.

In a statement issued today, Mrs.
John Leslie Kikoyne, chairman of the drive in this area, states:

"Here we are again in another war bond promotion, and again the headquarters for this region is prepared for an 'over the top' goal. It has been just two years since the bond booth was opened at the Mc-Crory store. This booth alone reached a million dollars in sales during that time, and workers there are now aiming for the second million.
There have been many organizations helping to make this booth a success. During the 5th War Loan drive the American Legion Auxiliary will maintain the booth.

"To start the drive the McCrory store is purchasing the equivalent of one week's sales in war bonds.
This is six times as much as in former drives. The chairman hopes everyone can do the same. So let's all meet at the bond booth and buy the best investment in the world—
U. S. War Bonds—for Victory."

Little Thomas Joseph Giampietro,
three months old, of 297 Franklin street, bought the first 5th War Loan bond locally. Young Thomas received enough money when he was born to buy one $100 and one $25 bonds. With the bonds he will receive a U. S. Treasury certificate designed by Walt Disney. Anyone wishing to present a baby with a bond can also get one of these certificates.

MORE TO COME

There seems little doubt that more—and even bigger—invading thrusts are still to come against Hitler's Europe. That the German high command realizes it was seen in their apparent reluctance to go all-out in attempts to stop establishment of the beachhead in the Cherbourg-Havre area.

But time is on the side of the Allies. The Nazi dilemma is that they cannot permit the drive from the expanding beachhead to continue without a fierce counter-attack, nor do they dare take their eyes off all the other possible invasion spots, notably the Calais sector.

If they "shoot the works," so to speak, at the Allied invasion troops in the Cherbourg-Havre district, the biggest smash of all may come through Calais and all but ruin them at one blow. And if they do not they may find the Allies exploiting the Havre landings and driving clear through to Paris.

The Allies have landed much heavy equipment and seem to be prepared for any counterattacks by the Germans. The generalship of Allied leaders in these early moves has been superb.

One of the great accomplishments has been the amazing co-ordination of all the branches of the services. The mine sweepers did a brilliantly successful job of clearing the waters for the huge invasion fleet and everywhere thus far there has been magnificent teamwork.

But German military tactics always call for counterattacks and their well-trained and well-equipped armies can deliver many punishing blows before Allied forces are well on their way across Europe.

It is a brutal job, this one. But it does appear, even at this point, that the Germans are being out-generated, outfought and out-flanked.

PETRID PETAIN

It is difficult to find even a trace of sympathy for the senile Marshal Petain of Vichy France, who once again, at a crucial moment failed the French people.

There have been many and varied excuses for Petain the last few years and sometimes it has been possible to believe that Petain, after all, was really working for the best interests of the French people and not for Hitler and all the rest of the Fascists.

But at this vital moment, Petain reveals himself again by warning the French against the Allied armies of liberation and demanding their co-operation with the Germans.

Marshal Petain is an old man. He could have saved himself in history with one last great gesture of patriotism. This was the moment when he could have risen to call on all Frenchmen to smite their oppressors. But Marshal Petain is going out as he went in—a craven and crawling traitor.

War Manpower Commission says it will find jobs for discharged veterans. This will make it unnecessary for the 24,000 employees of the War Manpower Commission to look for jobs.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issued dated at Bristol April 12, 1883. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

Johns' new hack is a public convenience.

The price of Delaware shad ranges from 75 cents to 35 cents, according to size. The first of the season commanded a dollar.

A wooden Indian, made over 100 years ago, occupies a conspicuous position in the bulk window of Amos Lippincott.

Philadelphia fishermen have arrived on the Badger fishing ground, below Bristol, and are getting ready their nets.

A barn at China Hall was burned last Sunday afternoon. Two hundred bushels of grain were consumed.

Charles A. Cuffed, commander of General Bodine Post, G. A. R., has been detailed by Adjutant General Stewart to inspect all the posts in Bucks County.

The Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Co. is about to build hot-houses and raise plants and flowers for the distribution to the different stations along its lines of route. Trained gardeners, too, are employed for the purpose of planting and decorating said stations.

(Following items culled from Bucks Co. Gazette, week of April 19, 1883.)

A Band of Mercy has been started in the public schools. The members are not permitted to smoke cats, dogs or birds, and not to unnecessarily tread upon a worm. They are pledged to do all they can to prevent cruelty to dumb animals.

The colored Baptists of Bristol, deciding to form a church organization, have called a meeting and invited delegates from about a dozen Baptist churches in this vicinity, to be present, on the 26th, and recognize them as an independent and distinct church.

The second annual regatta of the sorters of the Bristol Woolen Mills will be given under the management of Mr. George Wright, late of Bradford, England, on Saturday afternoon next. The course will be from Hellings' wharf to the Mill street wharf.

A mammoth thermometer has been placed in front of Dr. Purcell's drug store and attracts considerable attention.

The Bristol Cemetery Company has contracted with the owners of the Stover wind mill for the erection of one of their wind-engines for the purpose of supplying the grounds with fountains, etc. It will be placed at the lower extremity of their present grounds. A half mile of piping will be put in this season.

The new railroad bridge across Otter's creek will probably be finished by the first of June. The abutments are up, ready for the brick work.

At the meeting of the board of managers of the Bristol Library, last Friday evening, Miss Nellie O. Thomas was chosen librarian to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Daniel Muncey. The board also determined to have the library opened every day in the week, except Sunday, from four to six o'clock, p. m., and Saturday evening from half-past seven to nine.

CHICAGO—(INS)—Less stretch and strain in storing luggage is in prospect for postwar train travelers, according to a survey made by the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing Co., which found that 37 major railroads are in favor of putting bags under seats or in a compartment at the end of the car.

NEW YORK—(INS)—A pre-June wedding of a pretty white satin bride and a handsome Navy officer is taking place right in the window of one of New York's largest department stores. However, the event has occasioned no comment. The bride and groom are dummies on top of a wedding cake.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Republicans convene to pick their candidate and adopt a platform. If, as, of course, was not the case, the invasion has been especially designed to diminish national interest in these things, it could hardly have been better timed. It is impossible fully to hold national attention for a political convention with the people as a whole so eager for war bulletins that they demand newspapers faster than they can be printed and keep their ears literally glued to the radio. In all probability, that will be their condition when the Republicans meet on June 26.

CLEARLY IT is not a particularly felicitous position. Denunciation of the President and indictment of his management of home affairs are bound to fall a little flat in the midst of the terrific clash of our armies with the German armies.

It will be more difficult for the convention orators to make eloquent speeches, harder to "ring the bell" while the outcome of this historic engagement is still in doubt. On the other side, the Rome victory and the invasion are undoubtedly assets for Mr. Roosevelt. While, of course, it is not charged that they were framed with political purpose, it is certainly true that that speech on the fall of Rome was well calculated to soothe both Italian-Americans and Catholics, while his prayer delivered the night after the invasion was unquestionably more effective than any campaign speech in normal times would have been.

weeks, as all hope, the victory be gained by our forces, the enthusiasm of the Democratic Convention which meets on July 19, would be great. Indeed, even if victory has not been gained by that time, the conditions would strengthen the argument for the renomination of Mr. Roosevelt. It is no easy situation for the Republicans to deal with, but it is not altogether without compensation. For one thing, it should persuade them generally of the necessity for unity and intelligence. selection of the best possible ticket and the adoption of the best possible platform. It ought to insure against mistakes both of commission and omission. Certainly, it will be essential for the Republicans to make their declaration not only for the prosecution of the war but for the post-war international co-operation. Fear cut, forceful and unequivocal. It is the sort of situation that rules out pussyfooting and trimming. It is the sort of situation in which the opposing party has to "come clean."

IF THEN, the victory over Germany is complete before November

(and such is the confident belief of our military authorities) the Republicans, with a first-class ticket and a first-class platform, would be in fine position to appeal to the country. They could argue more forcefully that the war being virtually over, a change in administration is not only desirable but necessary for the national interests. Under these easily conceivable circumstances, they might not have to do a great deal to convince the voters. The trend would be in that direction.

BECAUSE, THE people are pretty well fed up with the New Deal,

They are overdue for a change. Every election and every primary in the past year has evidenced this. Only the war stands in the way. Once that argument has been nullified, the Republican prospects are better than ever. Particularly is this so. If they have the courage to make a real issue of the Roosevelt-CIO link, to bring out the matter of strikes; to point out its present dominance of the Democratic party and make clear its complete sponsorship for the fourth-term campaign and the controlling position in which it would be in the event of success.

When parents are so busy in temporal things, when minds are so occupied with material things, we are prone to neglect that which is of supreme importance—the training of the next generation. Grant, O Father, that all parents will have a new vision of the responsibility of parenthood. May they raise their children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. May they implant in the hearts of their children a respect for and a love for God, both by example and precept, and in that way insure a proper relationship between our nation and our heavenly Father. HARVEST TIME FOR MILK

Now...and for the next few weeks...milk will be one of the most plentiful as well as most nourishing summer foods! Because production's at the high point of the year, you can order more fine, rich Supplee Milk...and with your Government's complete approval. For by taking advantage of this wonderful bonus for good health and refreshment, you are co-operating in a very helpful way with the War Food Effort.

That's why Government limitations on the amount of milk you may order have been practically eliminated for the time being! That's why Supplee is inviting you to enjoy to the full this wonderful, short-term bounty. Order more milk

...and serve lots of cool, delicious milk puddings, custards, and frozen desserts...have plenty of milk and cream for berries and cereals...and tell Dad and the children to help themselves, when they're thirsty, to a between-meal glass of refreshing milk.

Just as Supplee made every effort, during last winter's drastic shortage, to meet the special needs of the community...we're taking this opportunity to bring you your full share of this welcome dividend of nutritious milk. Your Supplee milk man or woman is carrying extra milk so that you can increase your order right away...and your neighborhood store has it for you, too. You may increase your order also for buttermilk, chocolate drink and creamed cottage cheese...and there's more fine rich Supplee Sealtest Ice Cream.

ALLIED INVASION FORCES FIGHT WITH SAVAGE FURY AGAINST TOUGH ENEMY RESISTANCE; ADVANCE INTO CERISY

British and Canadian Forces Grapple With Strong German Mechanized Units at Caen—When St. Lo Falls the Allies Will Be in Control of the Main Rail and Road Arteries on Cherbourg Peninsula.

By Kingsbury Smith
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
Supreme Headquarters, Allied Expeditionary Force, June 12—(INS)—Allied invasion forces now estimated by the Germans at 400,000 men fought with savage fury against tough enemy resistance at both ends of their lengthening battle-line in Normandy today.

Supported by unremitting aerial bombardment and shelling of Nazi positions by Allied naval craft in the English Channel, American troops drove deeper into the forest of Cerisy southeast of Cherbourg while British and Canadian armored units with strong German mechanized forces at Caen.

The advances into Cerisy Forest placed the Americans less than eight miles from the communications center of St. Lo, half way through the Cherbourg Peninsula. (The German agency DNB reported Allied forces "in the outskirts" of St. Lo.)

When St. Lo falls, the Allies will gain control of the main rail and road arteries on the Cherbourg Peninsula and pose an increasingly serious threat to Cherbourg itself, immediate objective of the drive to the west.

The greatest obstacle in this area appears to be Carentan, a 15th-century town on the flooded lateral road paralleling the Norman coast.

Here the Germans are strongly dug in, and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's communique, issued from an advanced command post in the Normandy beachhead area, contained the following emphatic line:

"The Allies do not hold Carentan."

Several mobile artillery batteries of the Germans on the Cherbourg Peninsula were knocked out by the Allied naval guns.

British elements of the invasion army, meantime, encountered stiff resistance from the German armored forces in the Tilly area, and "intense fighting continued in that region."

Gen. Eisenhower's spokesman announced that the phase of securing the beachheads is "drawing to a close," and added:

"Current progress gives cause for sober satisfaction and the weather is more favorable."

"The Allies do not hold Carentan." "The situation around Isigny is vague, but in the vicinity of Lisson it is satisfactory."

Air operations, which had benefited from an improvement in the weather yesterday morning, suddenly after midday when cloud and rain obscured much of the battle area.

This morning, however, the skies over the Channel were sunny and there was a light breeze. The barometer was rising, giving promise that Allied aircraft would be able to operate more freely.

THE WAR AT A GLANCE

By International News Service

American invasion forces plunged deeper today into the Cerisy Forest less than eight miles from the vital enemy-held communications center of St. Lo, and continued to advance west of the inundated Merderet river valley.

Allied warships continued to support the land drive, said a communique from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters—issued from an advanced command post in the Normandy beachhead area—and several mobile artillery batteries of the Germans on the Cherbourg Peninsula were knocked out by Allied naval guns.

Meanwhile, British elements of the invasion army encountered stiff resistance from the German's armored forces in the Tilly area. "Intense fighting continued in that region," headquarters said.

In Italy the Fifth and Eighth armies pushed northwest up the Italian peninsula, hard on the heels of a Nazi retreat that threatens to become a rout. Fifth Army troops drove 70 miles north of Rome—halfway to Florence—while the Eighth Army cleared the Nazis from south of the Pescara River on the Adriatic flank.

General Douglas MacArthur's headquarters announced that Allied sea and air power continued to tear at Japanese bases from Truk to Bougainville, raining down a torrent of bombs, and strafing and cannonading the enemy.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT
(Distributed by McNaught Syndicate, Inc.)

Political Effect

Washington, June 10. THE MOST interesting political speculation at this time concerns the effect upon the Republican National Convention, to be held two weeks from now in Chicago, of the Allied success in the capture of Rome, followed so swiftly by the vast, dramatic and overwhelmingly momentous invasion of western Europe.

AS TO the convention, there are differences of opinion on this question. There also are widely separated views as to the effect upon the subsequent campaign. But those differences are a matter of degree. There is entire agreement on the basic fact that the Republican convention and the Republican cause have been done no good. There is no way by which they can benefit. That much is Reetz; offering, received by junior boys; sermon, the Rev. Richard R. Gay, pastor.

HERE AND THERE IN BUCKS COUNTY TOWNS

Activities of Interest To All In The Various Communities

GLEANED BY SCRIBES

Under the leadership of Rev. N. Herbert Caley, St. James' Episcopal Church of Langhorne has been using its parish house as a youth canteen for all 'teen age boys and girls in Langhorne and vicinity. The canteen is open every Friday night.

L. Ivins Smith, of Jericho Valley, near New Hope, had 48 pullets killed recently by dogs which their owner allows to run at large. The residents of the valley are incensed by the destruction wrought by these dogs that nightly roam the country side and steps will be taken to have the dogs destroyed.

Allan L. VanPelt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis W. VanPelt, of Pineville, was among the Air Force pilots recently commissioned second lieutenant, having completed his course. He has a brother, Lt. Albert VanPelt, who crashed over Germany and is now a prisoner of war.

An honor roll to list local men in the armed forces is being erected at the corner of Bellevue avenue and the Lincoln Highway, South Langhorne. It is of wood, hexagonal in shape.

Two new teachers were selected for the faculty of Sellersville-Perkasie high school last week by the Joint Board of Education to fill vacancies left by recent resignations.

PFC. HEADLEY WARNER WRITES OF GIVING "JERRY" PLENTY OF TROUBLE; HIS OUTFIT SPENDS SOME TIME IN FRACAS IN ITALY

PFC Headley W. Warner, son of Councilman and Mrs. William W. Warner, who is stationed in Italy, has seen much action in that theatre of war. The young man's brother, 2nd Lt. Wayne K. Warner, is an air corps navigator stationed in Nebraska; and another brother, William D. Warner, is a member of the Coast Guard Auxiliary.

The letter from PFC Headley Warner follows:

June 1, 1944.

Dear Folks:

With all the news coming from Italy now, I suppose you're wondering and worrying about me. Well, it finally came, and after a year overseas, I can feel that I've done something for my country.

My outfit spent six days and seven nights in the fracas and performed a wonderful job. I'm really proud to be a part of the Third Battalion, 13th A. R. We gave Jerry plenty of trouble while we were in there. My contribution wasn't very much. I started in the battle at my regular post as assistant driver. Circumstances altered the situation and after the second day I became a driver.

When I first went into it, I had one fear, and that was of my personal reaction under fire. I wasn't sure whether my nervous system could take it, but soon found out. After the initial barrage I was just as cool as ice and stayed that way clear through. My morale was tops and I never had any doubt about coming out okay. Close calls were plentiful. I couldn't begin to tell them all, but the good Lord answered your prayers and kept watch over me.

Right now, I'm out of action temporarily. On our last night out, one of the fellows accidentally closed a tank hatch on my left little finger. It sort of messed it up a little, but I was very fortunate in being able to keep it and it probably will be useable again. That's really fate for you. I managed to stick it out until the company drew back the next morning for a rest. Now they insist that I stay in the hospital for a while. I'm going to get out of here just as soon as I can. I hate being back here while the rest of the fellows are up there taking punishment. This may all be over by the time I get out. If so, I probably won't see any more action. But, if it isn't completed, I'll be seeing plenty. Don't worry your heads about me, because I'm confident that there isn't a German alive who has my number. If they were going to get me, it certainly would have happened by now.

I owe an awful mess of letters yet, and left everything behind me, never expecting to wind up in the hospital. I'll probably get back to find half of my belonging gone because my tank was disabled and beached for the scrap pile when I left.

Everything else is okay. I feel swell after my experience and can't wait to get another crack at it. Take good care of yourselves and don't forget to give my regards to everybody.

Your loving soldier son,

HEADLEY

PATTI AND DI NUNZIO WEDDING SOLEMNIZED

St. Ann's Ceremony is Followed By a Dinner and Reception

ON SUNDAY MORNING

The Patti-DiNunzio wedding took place yesterday morning at 11 o'clock in St. Ann's R. C. Church, with the Rev. Fr. Peter Pincel officiating; Miss Frances Tambarella providing organ music; and Mrs. James DiNunzio, South Langhorne, a cousin of the bride, singing "The Rosary." The church choir also provided music.

The bride is the former Miss Virginia DiNunzio, daughter of Mrs. Clementine DiNunzio, of 817 Garden street, she being wed to PFC John Patti, of Gore Field, Great Falls, Montana, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Patti, of Philadelphia. A large number of relatives and friends witnessed the nuptial mass.

Serving as matron of honor was a sister of the bride, Mrs. Rocco Manzo, of Elm street; with Miss Gloria Trasatti, Lincoln avenue, as bridesmaid. Cpl. Anthony Patti, Camp Davis, N. C., a brother of the groom, was best man for the occasion.

The bride was attired in white net. The floor-length gown had a long train. Ruffles appeared at the shoulders of the long sleeves, and two wide ruffles also enhanced the

LUTHERAN STUDENTS PRESENT A PROGRAM

Closing Exercises Held At St. Luke's School
in Croydon

CERTIFICATES GIVEN

CROYDON, June 12—The closing exercises of St. Luke's Lutheran Day School, State Road and Excelsior avenue, were conducted in the school rooms, Friday evening, in the presence of an overflow crowd of parents and well-wishers.

The program opened with the singing of the national anthem. A number of skits and vocal and instrumental numbers made up the first part of the program. Grades five to eight presented a playlet, "Examination Day in a Country School," and sang two songs, each in two voice parts, "All the Birds Are Here Again," and "Faithful Is God." Grades one to four gave a calisthenics demonstration under the direction of "General" "Billy" Kohlmeier. Piano selections were rendered by "Betty" Lou Keely, "Rose In My Garden," "Drifting," and "The Band Is Playing Dixie;" Rowland Pascoe gave two piano numbers, "Down on the Farm," and "The Farmer in the Dell;" a sextet composed of the following girls

Today Marks Opening Of 5th War Bond Drive

Today marks the opening of the Fifth War Loan for Victory, and solicitors in Bristol as in all parts of the United States are busy selling war bonds.

In a statement issued today, Mrs. John Leslie Kileoyne, chairman of the drive in this area, stated:

"Here we are again in another war bond promotion, and again the headquarters for this region is prepared for an 'over the top' goal. It has been just two years since the bond booth was opened at the McCroory store. This booth alone reached a million dollars in sales during that time, and workers there are now aiming for the second million. There have been many organizations helping to make this booth a success. During the 5th War Loan drive the American Legion Auxiliary will maintain the booth.

"To start the drive the McCroory store is purchasing the equivalent of one week's sales in war bonds. This is six times as much as in former drives. The chairman hopes everyone can do the same. So let's all meet at the bond booth and buy the best investment in the world—U. S. War Bonds—for Victory."

Little Thomas Joseph Giampietro, three months old, of 297 Franklin street, bought the first 5th War Loan bond locally. Young Thomas received enough money when he was born to buy one $100 and one $25 bonds. With the bonds he will receive a U. S. Treasury certificate designed by Walt Disney. Anyone wishing to present a baby with a bond can also get one of these certificates.

COUNTY FIRE LOSS DOUBLES DURING YEAR JUST ENDED

Loss at Annual Meeting is Given by Fire Marshal
At $362,417

OFFICERS ELECTED

4 Bristol Companies Join;
Rev. Steinmetz, Trenton,
Speaker

NEWTOWN, June 12—The loss by fire in Bucks County for the year ending June 1, 1944, was $362,417, or more than twice the loss for the year previous. This is according to the report of Bucks County fire marshal, Raymond Strunk. The loss from the period of June 1, 1942 to June 1, 1943, was $175,200.

The county fire marshal's report as well as other reports were presented on Saturday evening at the meeting of Bucks County Firemen's Association in the Newtown town house.

This presiding officer, the Hon. Thomas B. Stockham, Morrisville, vice president of the association, called upon the various individuals who participated in the program.

Strunk gave not only his annual report, but that for the past three months. The quarterly report showed there were: 58 alarms; 62 field and forest fires; three barn fires; one barn struck by lightning; 10 house fires; 13 out-building fires; loss, $37,991; insurance on properties afire, $58,150; property at risk, $115,500.

The annual report for the year ending June 1, 1944, is as follows: No. of alarms, 411; field and forest fires, 180; dwellings destroyed, 22; dwellings partly destroyed, 23; barn fires, 17; barns struck by lightning, 10; outbuilding fires, 15; loss, $362,417; insurance on property and contents, $470,739; value of property endangered, $562,500.

There were a number of arson cases reported. These included that of John Wyckoff, 22-year-old negro farm hand, who was committed to Hunterdon Industrial Reformatory, for an alleged attempt to set fire to a house in Falls Township, and for an alleged series of grass fires endangering the home and garage of Mr. and Mrs. William Miles, Falls Township. Other cases were those of James Camburn, 16, and Lenard Brown, 11, of Sellersville, who admitted setting fire to the desk in the office of Frank Jackson, at the latter's florist shop, Sellersville, after stealing money and a rifle. Report was also made on the fire at Warmistler Dairy Farms, set off by two small boys. They were taken before juvenile court and released in custody of their parents. Other juvenile cases involved three boys questioned about the burning of a small barn at Quakertown; and a negro youth questioned on a series of grass fires at Rock Hill.

There were seven deaths by fire during the past year in the county: Mrs. Welford Jones, 70, Yardley; George Garner, 45, Margaret Garner, 28, Shirley Garner, five, and Barbara Garner, two, all of Quakertown; Linford Foulke, 71, Quakertown; and Nancy Lindberg, 15 months, of Bristol.

Mr. Strunk, in his report, gave credit to Bucks County Rescue Squad, Croydon, for their services at fires, and for the fact the squad's ambulance is always available.

The marshal reported there are

WHAT OUR BOYS ARE DOING TO WIN THE WAR

WAYCROSS, Ga., June 12—Lt. Col. William H. Fillmore, Commanding Officer of the Army Air Field, here, announced the promotion of Pfc. Anthony D'Angelo to the grade of corporal. Anthony is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John D'Angelo, of Bristol, Pa. He entered the service on March 2, 1943, came to the Waycross Army Air Field on September 19, 1943, and works in the engineering office.

Col. Fillmore stated that the promotion was based on outstanding ability to accomplish the task to which assigned and high efficiency in general army duties.

MORE TO COME

There seems little doubt that more—and even bigger—invasion thrusts are still to come against Hitler's Europe. That the German high command realizes it was seen in their apparent reluctance to go all-out in attempts to stop establishment of the beachhead in the Cherbourg-Havre area.

But time is on the side of the Allies. The Nazi dilemma is that they cannot permit the drive from the expanding beachhead to continue without a fierce counter-attack, nor do they dare take their eyes off all the other possible invasion spots, notably the Calais sector.

If they "shoot the works," so to speak, at the Allied invasion troops in the Cherbourg-Havre district, the biggest smash of all may come through Calais and all but ruin them at one blow. And if they do not they may find the Allies exploiting the Havre landings and driving clear through to Paris.

The Allies have landed much heavy equipment and seem to be prepared for any counterattacks by the Germans. The generalship of Allied leaders in these early moves has been superb.

One of the great accomplishments has been the amazing coordination of all the branches of the services. The mine sweepers did a brilliantly successful job of clearing the waters for the huge invasion fleet and everywhere thus far there has been magnificent teamwork.

But German military tactics always call for counterattacks and their well-trained and well-equipped armies can deliver many punishing blows before Allied forces are well on their way across Europe.

It is a brutal job, this one. But it does appear, even at this point, that the Germans are being out-generated, outthought and out-flanked.

PETRID PETAIN

It is difficult to find even a trace of sympathy for the senile Marshal Petain of Vichy France, who once again, at a crucial moment failed the French people.

There have been many and varied excuses for Petain the last few years and sometimes it has been possible to believe that Petain, after all, was really working for the best interests of the French people and not for Hitler and all the rest of the Fascists.

But at this vital moment, Petain reveals himself again by warning the French against the Allied armies of liberation and demanding their co-operation with the Germans.

Marshal Petain is an old man. He could have saved himself in history with one last great gesture of patriotism. This was the moment when he could have risen to call on all Frenchmen to smite their oppressors. But Marshal Petain is going out as he went in—a craven and crawling traitor.

War Manpower Commission says it will find jobs for discharged veterans. This will make it unnecessary for the 24,000 employees of the War Manpower Commission to look for jobs.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol April 12, 1883. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

Jonas' new back is a public convenience.

The price of Delaware shad ranges from 75 cents to 35 cents, according to size. The first of the season commanded a dollar.

A wooden Indian, made over 100 years ago, occupies a conspicuous position in the bulk window of Ames Lippincott.

Philadelphia fishermen have arrived on the Badger fishing ground, below Bristol, and are getting ready their nets.

A barn at China Hall was burned last Sunday afternoon. Two hundred bushels of grain were consumed.

Charles A. Cuffel, commander of General Bodine Post, G. A. R., has been detailed by Adjutant General Stewart to inspect all the posts in Bucks County.

The Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Co. is about to build hot-houses and raise plants and flowers for the distribution to the different stations along its lines of route. Trained gardeners, too, are employed for the purpose of planting and decorating said stations.

(Following items culled from Bucks Co. Gazette, week of April 19, 1883.)

A "Band of Mercy" has been started in the public schools. The members are not permitted to stone cats, dogs or birds, and not to unnecessarily tread upon a worm. They are pledged to do all they can to prevent cruelty to dumb animals.

The colored Baptists of Bristol, deciding to form a church organization, have called a meeting and invited delegates from about a dozen Baptist churches in this vicinity, to be present on the 26th, and recognize them as an independent and distinct church.

The second annual regatta of the sorters of the Bristol Woolen Mills will be given under the management of Mr. George Wright, late of Bradford, England, on Saturday afternoon next. The course will be from Hellings' wharf to the Mill street wharf.

A mammoth thermometer has been placed in front of Dr. Purcell's drug store and attracts considerable attention.

The Bristol Cemetery Company has contracted with the owners of the Stover wind mill for the erection of one of their wind-engines for the purpose of supplying the grounds with fountains, etc. It will be placed at the lower extremity of their present grounds. A half mile of piping will be put in this season.

The new railroad bridge across Otter's creek will probably be finished by the first of June. The abutments are up, ready for the brick work.

At the meeting of the board of managers of the Bristol Library, last Friday evening, Miss Nellie O. Thomas was chosen librarian to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Daniel Muncey. The board also determined to have the library opened every day in the week, except Sunday, from four to six o'clock p. m., and Saturday evening from half past seven to nine.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Republicans convene to pick their candidate and adopt a platform. If, as, of course, was not the case, the invasion has been especially designed to diminish national interest in these things, it could hardly have been better timed. It is impossible fully to hold national attention for a political convention with the people as a whole so eager for war bulletins that they demand newspapers faster than they can be printed and keep their ears literally glued to the radio. In all probability, that will be their condition when the Republicans meet on June 26.

CLEARLY IT is not a particularly felicitous position. Denunciation of the President and indictment of his management of home affairs are bound to fall a little flat in the midst of the terrific clash of our armies with the German armies. It will be more difficult for the convention orators to make eloquent speeches, harder to "ring the bell" while the outcome of this historic engagement is still in doubt. On the other side, the Rome victory and the invasion are undoubtedly assets for Mr. Roosevelt. While, of course, it is not charged that they were framed with political purpose, it is certainly true that that speech on the fall of Rome was well calculated to soothe both Italian-Americans and Catholics, while his prayer delivered the night after the invasion was unquestionably more effective than any campaign speech in normal times would have been.

weeks, as all hope, the victory be gained by our forces, the enthusiasm of the Democratic Convention which meets on July 19, would be great, indeed. Even if victory has not been gained by that time, the conditions would strengthen the argument for the renomination of Mr. Roosevelt. It is no easy situation for the Republicans to deal with, but it is not altogether without compensation. For one thing, it should persuade them generally of the necessity for unity and intelligence. It ought to result in the

Have You A Room To Rent?

We Have a Victory Worker Ready to Move In

The production front is just as important to victory as the fighting front. In order to keep up production of Plexiglas, Lethane, Primal, Lykopen and other vital war materials, we must bring in workers from outside areas—and they must have living quarters.

• If you have a spare room for a man or woman in Bristol or vicinity, here is a chance to help the war effort and add to your income at the same time. Phone Bristol 875—ask for Personnel Dept. If you have registered your room with us, be sure to phone us whenever it is vacant, so we can send you a new roomer promptly.

selection of the best possible ticket and the adoption of the best possible platform. It ought to insure against mistakes both of commission and omission. Certainly, it will be essential for the Republicans to make their declaration not only for the prosecution of the war but for the post-war international co-operation, clear cut, forceful and unequivocal. It is the sort of situation that rules out pussyfooting and trimming. It is the sort of situation in which the opposing party has to "come clean."

IF THEN, the victory over Germany is complete before November

(and such is the confident belief of our military authorities) the Republicans, with a first-class ticket and a first-class platform, would be in the position to appeal to the country. They could argue more forcefully that the war being virtually over, a change in administration is not only desirable but necessary for the national interests. Under these easily conceivable circumstances, they might not have to do a great deal to convince the voters. The trend would be in that direction.

BECAUSE, THE people are pretty well fed up with the New Deal.

O Lord, our God, we pray thy blessing upon the youth of our land. We are passing through a day of moral relapse and of parental relaxation. When parents are so busy in temporal things, when minds are so occupied with material things, we are prone to neglect that which is of supreme importance—the training of the next generation. Grant, O Father, that all parents will have a new vision of the responsibility of parenthood. May they raise their children in the nurture and admonition of the Lord. May they implant in the hearts of their children a respect for and a love for God, both by example and precept, and in that way insure a proper relationship between our nation and our heavenly Father. In the Name of Christ. Amen.

Ward Canada, president of Willys-Overland Motors, and Australian auto dealers are receiving a growing number of postwar orders from farmers and ranchers for the famed scout car.

HEADQUARTERS, Panama Canal—(INS)—Brig. Gen. William C. Christy walked into a Coast Artillery command post harbor shop for a trim. The barber shook off a line of waiting enlisted men, making a ceremonial bow as he invited the general to take the chair. Christy declined with a smile. As he took his place at the end of the line, Corp. George R. Stephenson, of Suffern, N. Y., nonchalantly climbed into the chair and ordered a "G. I." trim.
